

Miller, Diane M.

---

From:
Sent: Friday, October 05, 2001 6:10 PM
To: NIOCINDOCKET@CDC.GOV
Subject: Compensation for Direct workers of nuclear energy materials.

Hello! This is a topic that interests me because my hubby as a scientist used to work w Uranium and other radioactive substances back in 1980 or so. There are several employers who really violate the OSHA rules and regulations in the place of employment. My hubby might have been exposed to high levels of Uranium that might have caused "poor quality of his sperms, that I experienced five miscarriages and finally got a son w severe Autism". Yeah, these workers put thier lives in front line and so these people deserve compensation for sure. The amount of compensation is upto the commission to decide. That is all I have to say. Thanks for listenning today. Have a great weekend.