- Follow up on February 3, 2014 letter concerning bioassay monitoring at Fernald and implications for the subcontractor SEC end date (83 vs. 85)
 - “Due diligence” in determining representativeness of the 1984-1985 data: In order to gain a better perspective on whether the 84-85 data set is reasonably representative of all subcontractor jobs during that period, NIOSH agreed at the 4/15 WG teleconference to try to determine the company affiliation for subcontractors during the first couple of years of Westinghouse’s tenure (86-87) and try to illuminate what these subcontracting companies did.
- NIOSH presents overview of new post-SEC thorium methodology and in vivo coworker model for 1979-1988 timeframe
 - SC&A to offer preliminary questions/responses
- Continued issues resolution for SC&A site profile review findings
- Work Group plans for next meeting later in the year to discuss SC&A review of post-SEC thorium model
